Art Unit: 2611

1. This office action, in response to the remarks filed 2/17/2006, is a final office action.

Response to Amendment

2. The previous objections to the drawings, specification and the claims are withdrawn.
3. The drawings were received on 2/17/2006. These drawings are acceptable.
4. Applicant's arguments filed 2/17/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant states the Hindman does not disclose the limitations stated in claim 1. The examiner disagrees. Hindman discloses storing mixer samples. As stated in the previous office action, Hindman discloses the outputs of the code mixers are accumulated over a period of time. This duration is achieved without the accumulation registers overflowing. Therefore the data does not exceed the storage capacity of the registers by the time the epoch has elapsed. The outputs of the code registers are stored in these registers. This information is stored over time in the registers. The present output is added to the preceding outputs in the registers. The data will be input to the appropriate location in the register according to the clock controlling the circuitry. For these reasons and the reasons stated in the previous office action, the rejections of the claims are maintained.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-6 and 16-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hindman et al (US 6,160,858).

Regarding claims 1 and 16, Hindman discloses the apparatus and the method of using the apparatus shown in figure 7. Accumulators 780 and 790 store sums of mixer samples from mixers 215 and 235. The accumulators accumulate the outputs of the code mixers over an interval equal to one epoch then dump the result at the end of each epoch (column 13, lines 57-63). The mixer samples are stored in the appropriate locations of the accumulator registers (column 14, lines 56-61).

Regarding claims 2 and 17, the accumulators comprise registers and dump the samples from the mixers at the end of each epoch as stated above.

Regarding claims 3 and 18, the epoch interval is known in the receiver and sent to the accumulators.

Regarding claims 4 and 19, the epoch interval is known in the receiver and sent to the accumulators. The GPS signal processor controls the selection of one or more channels of a multi-channel GPS receiver (column 16, lines 38-42).

Art Unit: 2611

Regarding claims 5 and 20, the receiver stores numerous samples from many channels (column 16, lines 38-42).

Regarding claims 6 and 21, the accumulation intervals are controlled by a data clock that is synchronized with the data bit intervals of the incoming signal data stream (column 4, lines 33-35).

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 11-15, 26-36 and 41-45 are allowed.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
